Guest bio

Hi I'm Lyndal Harris, and I'm the founder of Podcast VA. I'm passionate about helping people get their message out to the world via podcasts.

I'm a mum of two young kids, Jasmine and Isaac, who keep me on my toes. I love travelling, reading, coffee, wine, seafood, chocolate and peanut butter... and all combinations of chocolate and peanut butter.

My journey started as a Virtual Assistant (VA) in 2012. I had spent 6 years juggling family and learning everything I needed to know to start a business.

And then in 2016, my life changed. I still remember the day. I was sitting in a hospital room with my husband being told that he had pancreatic cancer. The only thing they could do was palliative chemo. At this point, I knew my life had changed. I needed a lifestyle that enabled me to be there for my family, and so I changed my business.

I decided to combine my experience of working virtually to support clients and my love of podcasting. I created Podcast VA and together with my team, we make podcasting easier. We'll manage every aspect, reducing the stress and overwhelm that comes with launching and maintaining a successful podcast.

Podcasting Tips & Tricks is a show designed to share quick, actionable tips and tricks for launching and growing a successful podcast and is aimed at both the new and seasoned podcasters. We cover a range of topics from launching your podcast; audio editing; publishing; hosting; equipment; marketing; monetising and lots more.

Podcast awareness and listenership are growing year on year and so it's no surprise that it is still significantly growing in 2020. And now is a great time for small business owners and entrepreneurs to launch a podcast to build brand awareness, as well as showcase their expertise, authority and trust.
